New Points in Clinton's Case. ONOF I LODGE-KEPPER FOR THE DUKE OF DE-VONSHIRE - OTHER VICTIMS.

Charles Petham Clinton, the young Eng-lishman whose adventures as Hugh Leslie Couriney and Lord Beresford were detailed in the Times testerday morning, was brought before Justice Smith, at the Jefferson-Market Police Court yesterday, in custody of Detectives Radford and Dusenbury. No complainants appeared in court against No complainants appeared in court against blim, and the detectives said they were not jet prepared to proceed with the case. The officers of the London Bank of Utah, upon which institution it was charged that Clinton, while representing himself as Lord Beresford, passed a worthless draft for £150 drawn on the banking firm of Ransers. Benyagia & Co. of London, had been given notice by telegraph of his arrest, but no reply had been received. Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Cg., the agents in this city of ton, Bliss & Cg., the agents to this city of the Utah Bank, were not prepared to act in the matter unless authorized by their prin-cipals. Mr. Albert G. P. Spevers, the broker, of No. 24 Broad street, was present in court. He said that Clinton had ob-tained his check for $100 as a loan by representing that he was a wealthy English gentleman travelling for pleasure in this country, temporarily out of funds. in this country, temporarily out of fund-, owing to the non-arrival of his remittances. As Mr. Speyers bad willingly parted with the money without any representations on the patt of Clinton which he (Speyers) could prove to be false, the transaction resolved elf into a breach of trust, and a criminal action could not, therefore, be maintained against the accused. Under the circumstances, Justice Smith remanded the prisoner to the custody of his captors until this morning, when it is believed a complaint will be made against him. Clinton, who declined to make any statement with reference to the charges, was taken back to police donarters.

From police sources additional particulars of the adventures of young Clinton in this country were learned yesterday. It is said that he arrived here on September 8, 1878. on board the Cunard steamer Algeria, and on board the Cunard steamer Algers, and that among his tellow-passengers was Mrs. Celonel C. Boyd, of Philadelphia, whose acquaintance be cultivated. The police say that when he come ashore from the steamer he carried away a small satchel belonging to Mrs. Boyd, which contained $100 in money and several hundred dollars' worth of jeweiry. The loss was reported to the police, but the lady had no suspicion that her felfow-passenger bad robbed her. Detectives, bowever, ascertained that such was the case, and finally recovered the satchel and jewelry, but the money had disappeared. They traced Clinton to the Clarencon Hotel, where he bad registered as Lieurenaut R. B. Arundel, of the Second Queen's Life Guards, but be had left for parts unknown, leaving an un-Chicago, where he was known as the Hon. Ray Reid, and succeeded in victimizing a number of people. In Rochester be created to be. a decided sensution as Hugh Leslie Courtney, an ex-officer of the Queen's Guard, and a younger son of the Duke of Devonshire. When he first appeared he rather kept himself aloof from those who appeared anxious to make his acquaintance. This had the intended effect, and for several weeks be was much sought after and was received by the best fami-ties in the city. When the discov-ery of his real character was imminent, he left suddenly, leaving many unpaid bills, From Rochester be went to Buffalo, where he put up at the Tift House and lived in the most extravagant style, mixing in fash-bill. Will you be kind enough to come and make it all right? I am in a dreadful state bill of $20 for board as a remembrance of bis visit. From Detroit he crossed the border into Canada, and made his appearance at Toronto. He put up at the Rossin House, where he registered as "Lieutenant Dennison," of the Sixty-seventh regiment of the line. Mr. D. Cliftern Shears, the proprietor, soon became the character of his guest, and the chara ton Shears, the proprietor, soon became aware of the character of his guest, and treated him accordingly. A number of tradesmen in Toronto have bills against tion which they would gladly see paid. Courtney then crossed the continent, and in San Francisco for a short time made a great impression as Sir Harry Vane Tempest, Barouet. He is said to have met with great success there, and when he left certainty thousand dollars. tain people were several thousand dollars poorer by reason of his visit.

From an English gentleman residing in this city it was learned iast night that Clinton is the son of a lodge keeper in the employ of the Duke of Devonshire. Through the kindness of the family he received a good education, but was inclined to be wild, and left home when young, and entered an his spindling career. He assumed tered on his swindling career. He assumed relationship to the family of the Duke of Devonsuire to such an extent that the Duke was compelled, in self-defence, to publish a card in the English papers denouncing him as a swindler. Late last night a telegram was received at police beadquarters from the officers of the Loudon Bank of Utah, at Salt Lake City, as follows : "Warrant for Courtney's arrest issued and mailed to-night."

A Duel Interrupted. TWO YOUNG KENTUJKIANS THE PRINCIPALS-

HOW THE FIGHT WAS PREVENTED. [New York Times.] CINCINNATI, December 1 .- Society in Cincimnati and Covington is in a ferment to-day over reports of an interrupted duel be-tween Lawrence Trimble and John C. Bentween Lawrence Trimble and John C. Benton, sons of two of the oldest and wealthing the Kentucky. The trouble grew out of an anonymous paragraph sent to the society columns of the Sunday papers last summer. The item, which reflected seriously upon the character of Miss Stevenson, a daughter of Governor Stevenson, and Miss Georgie Holmes, was carclessive published in the Enquimor Stevenson, and Miss Georgie Holmes, was carclessive published in the Enquiver and Commercial. When the malignity of its nature was discovered the papers promptly offered a reward for proof of the Identity of the writer—Enquirer $1.000 and the Commercial $200. Since then detectives from New York and self-constituted local detectives have been working the case. Suspicion, for some reason, centred upon Mrs. Fackler, a rich and prominent society detectives have been working the case. It suspicion, for some reason, centred upon Mrs. Fackler, a rich and prominent society farly of Cincionail, a dauguter of Judge Trimble, of Covington. There was no positive clew, bowever, and the persons interested on the Benton and Stevenson side not long ago signed a paper to the effect that they did not believe Mrs. Fackler guilty; out subsequently expressions were undersubsequently expressions were under-ad to come from John C. Benton, whose ne was connected with one of the aspersed less, which the Trimble family deemed for the party to start last night, and the members of the Trimble party had actually purchased tickets and were on the train, when the aged father of Mr. Benton, ascertaining what was going on, placed the police on the track of his son, and, by threatening arrest, succeeded in dissuading him from taking part in the duet. In the controversy at the depot, on the refusal of Benton to go, Trimble became enraged and made a personal assault upon Perkins. The matter rests here for the present, but further developments are looked for.

Theophilus Younga's Identity. New York, December 1.—In conversa-tion yesterday with a Tribune reporter, Mr. Drake, counsel for Henry Youngs, the plaintiff in the suit against Mrs. Youngs to plaintiff in the suit against Mrs. Youngs to set aside letters of administration on her husband's estate, said:

"The idea of bringing father and daughter together is due to Mr. Morse, Mrs. Youngs's Boston attorney. Although acting for the defendant, he was cyldentic deing for the defendant, he was evidently de-termined to get at the truth at any cost. I think the result of the interview will be to close the case, because I believe Morse is fully satisfied that the identity of Mr. Youngs was established. An attorney of a party at law, it is true, cannot close his of a party at law, it is true, cannot close his client's case upon his own responsibility, but he can ratire from it. If Mr. Morse adopts this course, and Messrs. Field and Minor, the defendant's New York lawyers, follow his example, Mrs. Youngs will be in a pretty preaicament. Her defence has completely broken down, and further opposition would be useless. I do not think there will be any development in this case for some weeks to come, unless Mrs. Youngs for some weeks to come, unless Mrs. Youngs

"Where is Theophilus Youngs?" was asked. "I give you my word," was the reply, "that I do not know where he is. It is true that he came to my office days and days running, but he never let me know where he was staying. His object in thus secreting himself was to keep his wife off the track. Although she had denied his identity in open court, it is just possible that, discovering his address, she might retract her desertion. In this case she would have a per-fect ground for action."

"When do you expect to see Mr. Youngs again P

"1 can hardly tell; he is such an eccentric man. We had an engagement together vesterday, and he did not make his appearance, and has not shown up since.".

"I know absolutely nothing. There is no means of learning anything from bim on this subject, and I hardly believe that he has even told his brother all he went brough. I repeat, he is an exceedingly eceptric man."

On making further inquiries in the city the reporter learned that Mrs. Youngs, who had been stopping at the Revere House, left New York for Boston last Tuesday evening in an apparently despondent mood. Her lawyer, Mr. Moise, also returned to Boston the same day. Mr. Henry Youngs could not be seen, as he was absent at Goshen, Orange county, where his brother Theophilus is also said

Sale of Rare Coins.

Mr. William Seemutler, auctioneer, sold last night at his auction-room, 11 south Charles street, a collection of rare copper and silver coins, collected by Dr. George W. Massamore, and being for the most part du-plicates of his collection. Such a sale is a poyelty in this city, and naturally a large number of numismatists and coin-dealers were attracted to it. About $500 was realized, and both the buyers and sellers appeared to be satisfied with the result. The largest purchasers were Ferguson Haines, State Treasurer of Maine under the Green-Ionable society only. He was arrested there at the instance of the proprietor of the Tift House, where he had contracted a bill of the doctrines of his party and paid high the doctrines of his party and paid high $325. When arrested be had only six cents in his possession, and while he was locked up in the station-house he sent the following note by a messenger to a lady and gentleman whose acquaintance he had made during his stay in Buffelo:

The doctrines of his party and paid high prices for coin with his greenbacks; Profession Milles, of the Baltimore City College; and Messrs. Burley, Berg, Andrews, Caughey, and McKenzie. The collection of United States cents was rare. The highest price that a one-cent piece brought was $27.50 for a 1789 cent, purchased by Fergu son Raines; and another at $9.25, by Mr. Burley. A cent of 1832 brought $2.10, and two cents coined in 1837 brought $1.25 and of mind. Do persuade your friends to do two cents coined in 1837 brought $1.25 and something for me, or 1 shall have to lie here $1.16 respectively. Professor Milles bought t night. HUGH COURTNEY.

*P. S.—If you would call here it would collection of sixty-four coppers at $10. This note was returned unopened, and the pleading Courthey was left in jail. He was finally released, and then went to Detroit, where he distinguished himself in the same manner. When uncomfortable demands were being made upon him for troit, where he distinguished himself in the same manner. When uncomfortable demands were being made upon him for money in liquidation of bills incurred, he left suddenly, leaving the proprietor of the Russel House, in that city, an unpaid bill of $20 for board as a remembrance bill of $20 for board as a remembrance distinct the crossed distance of 1859, and Mr. Berg $3.75 and $3.25 dimes generally brought from thirty cents to $1.69, at which price one coined in 1877 was sold. Professor Milles paid $3 50 for a dime of 1802. The total number of sets of coins sold last evening was 406, the dates on the United States coins going as far back as 1793. There was also a threepence of James the Second, coined in 1686, and an

Elizabeth sixpence of 1762. Manificent Bequests.

Boston, December 1.—The following are the gifts which have thus far been made by Mrs. Valeria G. Stone from the estate left by her husband. Quite a large sum, it is understood, is yet remaining to be distribu-ted, which will be used in accordance with the advice of the gentleman she has selected as her counsel in the disbursement of this large trust: To Bowdoin College, to finish Memorial Hall, $20,000; to Bowdoin Col-lege, to endow the Professorship of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy, $50,000; to the Hallowell Classical School, $10,000; to the Fryeburg Academy, Maine, $10,000; to Dartmouth College, to endow the Stone Pro-fessorship of Intellectual and Moral Philosophy, $35,000; Andover Theological Semi-nary, to endow the Professorship of the Re-lations of Christianity to Secular Science, $5,000; on the condition that a subscription of $100,000 for the Phill p Academy be completed, $100,000; Amherst College, to en-dow the Stone Professorship of Theology, on condition of the college raising $25,000, $50,000; Wellesley College, to construct and furnish Stone Hall, $100,000; Women's Board of Missions for Harpoon College, Turkey, $25,000; Young Men's Christian Association of Boston, toward a new buildgaged homes.

Wednesday morning about 5 o'clock, as an employed of the Richmond and Danville railroad was passing down the track near Lidden's machine shop, he observed that the door of one of the ears of a freight train standing on the track at this point was ofcu. When he approached the ear two menorated it was subsequently ascertained sprang out, one siter the other, and soon disappeared. It was subsequently ascertained that the door of the car had been prized open by a bar of iron, which was found on the spot, and a number of barrels of whiskey and boxes of candy, with which the rar was loaded, were bored into and broken open by means of augers, chisels, and other tools, which, still later, it was found had been obtained by an entrance into the new house adjoining, which has just been built by Liddell & Co., to be used as a carpenter abop.

The Baltimore Grain Charges. ERCHANTS COME TO AN AGREEMENT WITH THE

BALTIMORE AND OBIO RAILROAD, BALTIMORE, December 1 .- At a genera eeting of the Corn and Flour Exchange held to-day, the committee appointed to con-fer with the Baltimore and Obio Railroad Company made a report that the difficulty growing out of the railroad advancing ele-vator-storage rates would be amicably adusted. The committee's report was as fol-

"Your committee held another conference to-day with the Baltimore and Obio railroad officials. After full discussion of the subjec's, an arrangement was suggested by the railroad company under which it is hoped an amicable sojustment will be reached. In reply to a question, it was stated by Robert Garrett that in case, by the action of the Corn and Flour Exchange or its members. the stock in the elevators was reduced to a working capacity of 1,300,000 bushels, the necessity for the existence of the order will have the control of the order will be removed by such action and it will be withdrawn. The company expressed a willingness to facilitate the grain trade in every respect; to do the spouting and weighing and the putting the grain into barges, and to incur any cost for moving barges to any wafehouse which might be selected. The company are also willing, after the grain has been removed and put again in barges, to tow it back to their ele-vators and put it through them without extra cost."

Charles D. Fisher, of the firm of Gill & Fisher, advised the members to take either concerted or individual action to remove the grain, and on the part of his firm pledged the transfer of 50,000 bushels from be elevators. Other pledges were made by prominent members, which will result it nearly 300,000 bushels being taken out of the elevators in the next two days.

The stock in the elevators is now 2.400. 806 bushels of wheat and 403,790 bushels of corn, making a total of 2,804,596 bushels. As the railroad in effect demands its reduction to 1,300,000 bushels, it will be seen that there will only have to be taken out 1,504,-596 bushels in order to secure the rescinding of the order for increased storage rates. Accordingly there is little doubt that the order will never go into effect, as the cause of the advance in rates will be undoubtedly removed before the 6th of December—the day appointed for its enforcement.

A Teacher's Presence of Mind. NEW YORK, December 1 .- There was a fire vesterday in St. Theresa's parochial school, which was extinguished before it made any headway, and a panic among the scholars was prevented by their teacher's presence of mind. It started in the open space between the flooring in the upper story in an apartment used as the Second class's room. A little beep of paper and the like had been swept into a small opening in the floor, and it became ignited either by some mischievous scholar dropping a match into it or in some other manner undiscovered. The first intimation of its existence was the appearance of a puff of smoke rising from the floor. The children rose to their feet, but the Christian Brother in charge of them quieted them, and at once dismissed them. He and his fellow-teachers succeeded in emptying the school of its 500 scholars without occasioning any serious fright or disturbance among them. Meanwhile the fire was extinguished with a bucket of

Wednesday the first train of the nev route to New York from the West via the Baltimore and Obio, Junction railroad, and Reading railroad by the Bound Brook division, passed over the tracks, the only impediment to such a route—the refusal of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to allow the use of the Junction road-having been overcome by a law suit recently decided against the Pennsylvania railroad. The Baltimore and Ohio will run three trains daily from the foot of Liberty street, New York, at 9:30 A. M., 7 P. M. and 10:30 P. M. The 7 o'clock train will be the fastest ever run between New York and Cincin-
